To Whom It May Concern:

I have had the opportunity to work with Andres Aranguibel in his role of Graphic Design Intern in our Product Marketing and Development group at AAA. Andres has worked with me directly and with many of the Information Technology and business line staff here at AAA since April 2011.

Andres has proven to be an asset by demonstrating the ability to apply his design skills and creative talent in several of our product marketing campaigns. His contributions in terms of graphic material vary greatly ranging from flyers and posters to large-scale printing, web design, video editing, and user interface design. His skill set spans the entire lineup of Adobe's Creative Suite software, with advanced knowledge of several specific products, such as Adobe After Effects and Photoshop.

I have personally enlisted his help in creating videos and designing my slideshow presentations for several AAA national conferences. I worked with him one-on-one and witnessed firsthand the high level of respect and professionalism with which he operates. Andres was able to quickly grasp what was needed based on a high level summary discussion. These projects demonstrated his ability to understand the needs of his customer and work independently to provide the needed presentations rich with video and graphics. At times, the available delivery timeframe was limited yet Andres delivered promptly and with quality as necessary in a fast-paced corporate environment.

It is with pleasure that I recommend Andres, as he has shown to be an exceptional model of academic and workplace success while interning at AAA.

Sincerely,

Satish D. Mahajan
